INCREASE ALLOWED BY I. C. C. Advance in Railway Transportation Rates on News Print Papers.

Increased rates on news print paper and other papers from points in New England to New York city and adjacent points over the Boston and Maine, the New Haven and the Boston and Albany railroads, were approved in part today by the interstate commerce commission.

commission.

In its decision the commission deciared that the proposed rates are the result of a compromise between the railroads and paper manufacturers principally located in the vicinity of Holyoke, Mass. The increase from that section is from 16 cents per hunfred pounds to the third-class rate at 16 cents per hundred pounds, and that arrangement, the commission points out, is satisfactory to the manufacturers principally concerned.

BOY WHO FLED HOSPITAL TO LEAD ALL PLACES MAKES GOOD HIS ESCAPE IN ABOLISHING FLIES

Suffering From Appendicitis Operation Effects He Disappears When Arrest Threatened.

Harold Ashton, seventeen years old, tho escaped from Casualty Hospital yesterday morning, just before he was to be arrested by the police to be held on a charge of vagrancy, has not been heard from. The police made a search was found after he left the hospital by vay of the back door.

The boy had been operated upon for Fifty-Five Depots Designated for appendicitis. Dr. Charles Stanley White performed the operation, and it was thought the patient was still so weak that he would be unable to get far away before he would stop to ge care of himself.

When Ashton was found in a box car by the police, he said he had been without food for several days, and when taken to the hospital the surgeons in charge discovered that he was suffering from appendicits. His case elicited the sympathy of a number of persons, funds were subscribed for his benefit and he had been promised a position and home when he recovered.

Ashton's case was called to the atention of the Associated Charities and was referred to Miss Sadie H. Wilson, who is in charge of the northeast branch of the organization.

branch of the organization.

Miss Wilson saw the patient and heard his alleged contradictory stories of his life and relatives. She heard from him that he had been on the road since he was thirteen years old. His troubles started, he said, when his mother and father separated when they were residents of Cincinnati.

Rather than become an inmate of an institution, the boy stated, he ran away from the farm where he boarded and has been on the road since that time. One story Miss Wilson heard was that a wealthy woman was going to adopt Harold, but something made her change her mind.

Because of his contradictory stories and for the further reason that it was thought something should be done to restore him to his relatives and friends and get him off the road, Miss Wilson asked the police to hold him until she could get responses to letters she sent to persons residing in Cincinnati and elsewhere, and it was for the purpose of detaining him that a warrant alleging vagrancy was obtained for him.

The District government in entering into a partnership arrangement with The Star for combating the greatest of all disease-spreaders, has taken a step that undoubtedly will be watched with great interest by other cities, and that the example will be followed extensively, just as The Star's first "swat-the-fly" campaign" developed into a mammoth national crusade against the insect, is more than probable.

Traps Made at Mission.

The Commissioners will issue an or-der to the marketmasters and officers in charge of the various police and fire houses to see that the traps are kept baited and utilized to their highest ef-

With the District government recognizing the value to the health of the community of a systematic fight on flies, it is hoped that citizens will take up the work as never before, and that the pests will be combated vigorously in every section of the city.

Homemade "swatters" and traps, old-fashioned sticky fly paper and other means may be employed with farreaching results in the effort to rid Washington of the winged disease spreaders.

The authorities believe that the perpetrators of the crime are the same ones who last November exploded a homb near the Bronx courthouse just as Judge L. D. Gibbs was leaving the building. Judge Gibbs declared he believed that revenge sought by friends of "white slavers" who had been sentenced in his court inspired the explosion.
